2	It'sfiftyshadetime	AT:	:23.6	:47.7	1:13	and	1:45.3	(Average Times for mid-level races)
3	Templar Red	AFTL:	:24.1	:48.4	1:13.9	and	1:47.6	(Average Times for this level)

RACE APPRAISAL

With a deep field dominated by closers, It'sfiftyshadetime looks like the only one likely to set the early pace. This moderate tempo scenario strongly benefits runners who can stay relatively close without needing a fast pace, notably Boltoro and Templar Red, both dropping significantly in class and capable of sharp performances from mid-pack. Templar Red comes from tougher spots and is expected to relish today's softer company, boasting strong FIRE and Fast Fig numbers. Boltoro, despite a lackluster recent effort, has been consistently competitive at tougher levels and holds the top CPR and Fast Fig ratings in the field, suggesting a rebound is likely. It'sfiftyshadetime dropping notably, should find today's rivals easier, particularly beneficial if allowed to dictate terms upfront. Trainer stats highlight Mason (Templar Red) and Gibson (It'sfiftyshadetime) as potent angles, each sporting strong recent records, especially when dropping their horses in class. Workouts have been solid for several contenders, notably Fearless Kristie, whose recent sharp work suggests a bounce-back effort despite stepping up. Boltoro is clearly the horse to beat, ideally placed to capitalize on today's pace and class scenario. Templar Red and It'sfiftyshadetime stand as main threats, offering tactical advantages and good class fits. Fearless Kristie provides potential value for deeper exotics.

HORSE COMMENTS

Royal Laughter often settles toward the rear and lacks a consistent closing punch against this caliber. Rosin's barn isn't particularly sharp right now, making her tough to support despite some competitive past performances.

Clearly Creeps is stepping up significantly in class after competing at lower levels without much success. Wilson's barn struggles to find the winner's circle, and improvement today would be unexpected.

Undecoded has struggled recently, showing little late punch in her races. Martin has decent overall numbers, but current form strongly suggests she's an outsider today.

Boltoro drops from a tough spot and has previously shown the ability to dominate similar fields. The Asmussen barn consistently places horses well, marking her as the standout choice.

Big Bad Diva regularly finds trouble early in races and has been unreliable. Puhl's barn is cold, further decreasing confidence.

Butterfly Queen hasn't demonstrated competitive form recently and faces a stiff class test. Shorter's low percentage makes it hard to support her.

Saranac Lake moves up notably in class following modest performances at lower levels. Cravens' barn is struggling, and without notable improvement, she's unlikely to factor.

It'sfiftyshadetime is the field's main speed, likely to enjoy favorable pace conditions. Gibson excels with class droppers, making her dangerous to overlook as a serious pace threat.

Templar Red is a strong class dropper with consistent figures against tougher. Mason's excellent recent strike rate enhances her appeal, making her a clear contender with a legitimate shot to win.

Fearless Kristie takes a step up and has had mixed results lately. Jordan's stable has limited success on dirt routes, making her hard to trust despite good recent workouts.

Chai Tea has failed to impress in recent outings and faces tougher rivals here. Anderson has decent route stats, but current form makes her tough to endorse.

Right Trappe frequently encounters issues, including slow starts, and hasn't been competitive lately. Rone's barn has been quiet, making her an unlikely threat.

Lady Mercedes has had trouble getting involved lately. Vance's barn is ice-cold, and though occasionally showing signs of life late, she would be a surprise

Super Enticing could close mildly but has struggled to make meaningful impacts recently. Asmussen's consistent barn helps, but significant improvement is required.
